

Fabulous German Competition Film Quiz

You may find this hard to believe, but Good-bye Lenin and Lola Rennt are not the only German films ever made.

These are the two films most often shown in English schools, not counting the famous film Metropolis by Fritz Lang from 1927, which is often watched in Film Studies classes. For learning languages, however, it is not useful, as it is a silent movie!

The purpose of this little quiz is to introduce you to some other modern German films that do not have U-boats in them and that you can use to learn German.

They are often available on streaming platforms, if not you can usually find them in our library.

The form you fill the quiz in will collect your e-mail address and send me your answers – the best 3 entries will win a £10 amazon voucher that will be posted home to you.

Please submit your entry by Thursday 4pm (2nd July) and the winners will be announced on Friday (3rd July).

Viel Spaß!

Please click the link below to do the quiz:

https://docs.google.com/forms/d/12a6FqtXvQvc2pv0YndVz8n2rqzfv9zN0bja-XeNjVUE/viewform?ts=5ed89ab9&edit_requested=true

